Girlology & Guyology: Just the facts - Charlotte

Start date: 6/3/2018 1:00 PM
End date: 6/3/2018 3:00 PM

Girlology & Guyology is a medically based educational platform specializing in puberty, emerging sexuality, and adolescent health. We demystify emerging sexuality by equipping young people with knowledge and confidence through our parent-child programs, books and web community. We are changing the culture of sexuality education by bringing parents and children together to have honest and real world conversations with physicians who are passionate about adolescent health. We are the only physician-led puberty and sexuality education programs available nationally. Our services and products are used by parents and caregivers, healthcare professionals, educators, youth workers and youth (8-16 years old); we can complement existing puberty-education and sexuality-education programs. All of our "Girlologists" and "Guyologists" are physicians or experienced & proven educators, trained and certified in our methods and curricula.

Guyology: Just the facts - There's a lot of chatter on the playground, and some of it is too awkward to ask about at home. Boys need accurate information about puberty, hygiene, and girls. And they need to hear it in a setting that is active, entertaining, and cringe-free.

Please check the program for the date you are registering for. Each program concludes with time for anonymously submitted questions and answers. Each registration includes the book "There's Something New About You" written by Melisa Holmes and Patricia Hutchison.

Location: Locations vary, please check the location on your registration.
Registration: Please visit Girlology.com to register for each event.
Event location: Main Lobby 200 Hawthorne Ln Charlotte, North Carolina 28204 United States