Primary care

With you at every step.

If the system of care in Clemmons is your stay-healthy team, the primary care provider (PCP) is its quarterback. Beyond performing annual wellness exams and physicals, your PCP also helps to coordinate your care by making specialist referrals, providing follow-up care after hospitalization, guiding you through preventive care recommendations, and more.

From pediatricians caring for newborns and children to family medicine providers caring for adults, the PCP is an integral part of making sure you get the healthcare experience you expect and deserve.
