Novant Health Forsyth Medical Center

Novant Health Forsyth Medical Center is an 859-bed hospital offering a wide range of services in emergency, medical, surgery, neurology, critical care, oncology, women's health and wellness and behavioral health. Centers of excellence include the Maya Angelou Women's Health and Wellness Center, Heart and Vascular Institute, Derrick L. Davis Cancer Institute, Stroke and Neurosciences Center, Orthopedic Center and Behavioral Health.

History

Novant Health Forsyth Medical Center was founded in 1887 as a 10-bed hospital inside a private home. Episcopal minister Henry O. Lacy worked with the Ladies Twin City Association and other volunteers to raise money for the hospital to address the community's growing need for healthcare. The Twin City Hospital existed in several different locations until 1959 when voters approved purchase of a 77-acre campus that is Novant Health Forsyth Medical Center's current home. In 2019, Forsyth Medical Center broke ground on a multiphase, $400 million expansion which includes a new five-story, 193,480-square-foot tower with 60 critical care and 36 patient rooms. The project is scheduled for completion in 2024.

Novant Health Matthews Medical Center

Novant Health Matthews Medical Center is a 157-bed hospital offering a wide range of services in cardiovascular, surgery, maternity, cancer, hospice and palliative care, outpatient and high-level diagnostic capabilities.

History

Since opening its doors in August 1994 with 102 beds, Novant Health Matthews Medical Center has expanded numerous times to keep up with the population growth of eastern Mecklenburg County and adjacent Union County. In 2013, Matthews Medical Center opened a fifth-floor vertical expansion with 23 inpatient rooms, nine observation rooms and three hospice beds. In early 2015, Novant Health Matthews Medical Center completed a renovation of its existing maternity rooms. The renovated rooms feature a guest sleep bed, Jacuzzi, shower, hair dryer and more. In August 2016, the hospital opened a 26,000-square-foot Women's Center, adding 10 new labor, delivery, recovery and postpartum suites. Additional features include a special care neonatal nursery, women's boutique, community classroom space, lactation suite, triage rooms and an expanded level II neonatal intensive care unit. The expansion increased the Women's Center to approximately 49,000-square-feet with a total of 33 labor, delivery, recovery and postpartum rooms. In 2021, Matthews Medical Center announced a $169 million bed tower expansion that will add 150,000 square feet, 20 new beds and support future campus expansions of up to 100 new beds. All construction is planned to be completed by the summer of 2025.

Novant Health New Hanover Regional Medical Center

Novant Health New Hanover Regional Medical Center is a not-for-profit 800-bed teaching hospital, regional referral center and UNC School of Medicine branch campus. We offer specialty medical and surgical care, which includes women's and children's, rehabilitation and psychiatric hospitals, and a level II trauma center. Other specialty services include: three 24-hour emergency departments; adult, neonatal and pediatric intensive care; neurosurgery; pediatric surgery; open heart surgery; vascular surgery and oncology services. New Hanover Regional Medical Center also manages Pender Medical Center, a 25-bed critical access hospital with 43 skilled nursing home beds in Burgaw.

History

New Hanover Regional Medical Center opened in 1967 as New Hanover Memorial Hospital. It marked a civil rights achievement for Wilmington, replacing separated, segregated hospitals. The hospital has since grown into a major medical center serving the entire Southeastern North Carolina region. New Hanover Regional Medical Center joined Novant Health in 2021.

In 2022, New Hanover Regional Medical Center was verified as a level II trauma center by the American College of Surgeons. While New Hanover Regional Medical Center has had a level II trauma designation from the North Carolina Office of Emergency Medical Services (NCOEMS) since 1989, this additional verification achievement recognizes the trauma center's continued dedication to provide optimal care for injured patients.

Novant Health New Hanover Orthopedic Hospital

Novant Health New Hanover Orthopedic Hospital offers highly specialized orthopedic services and features specialty trained orthopedic nurses, therapists, technicians and surgeons who are board-certified or eligible in orthopedic surgery. The hospital has specialists in hand and shoulder, foot and ankle, sports medicine and joint replacement. The campus also includes a full-service 24-hour emergency department, inpatient and outpatient surgery, respiratory therapy, rehabilitation medicine, radiology services and laboratory services.

History

Three physicians founded Cape Fear Memorial Hospital, which opened on August 6, 1957. The hospital grew over the years, and a 1980 bond issue paved the way for new emergency facilities and a three-story patient bed tower. In 1998, Cape Fear Hospital joined New Hanover Regional Medical Center. In 2021, New Hanover Regional Medical Center joined Novant Health.
